Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-61 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-65 of U.S. Patent No. 6,925,324.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the present application are considered to be an obvious variant of the claims of the parent patent.

3. Claims 1-61 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-29 of U.S. Patent No. 6,389,308.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the present application are considered to be an obvious variant of the claims of the parent patent

4. Claims 1-61 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-46 of copending Application No. 11/641,268. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the present application are considered to be an obvious variant of the claims of the related application.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. Claims 7,9,10,11,20,22,23,24,32,34,36,37,38,39-48,50-52,57,58,60,61 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Selker et al (5,724,983).

Selker is considered to encompass all of the structure of the above claims. Col. 2:50+ teach that the waveform analyzer 12 analyzes certain characteristics of the patient's ECG, such as ST segment depression. The analyzer is programmed to analyze particular characteristics of the patient's waveform and compare them to previously stored characteristics in the analyzer. This function of the waveform analyzer is considered to be analogous to the low-level resolution analysis performed by applicant's invention. The result of the waveform analyzer's analysis is then output to the predictive instrument 14 that uses a higher level of analysis, such as statistical analysis, to predict the medical condition of the patient. Col. 5:56+ teach that the thresholds can be changed as a function of the output of the analysis. Col. 6:9+ teaches that various mathematical algorithms can be used in the analysis of the signals

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. Claims 1-6,8,12-19,21,25-31,33,35,49,53-56,59 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Selker et al (5,724,983).

The method steps of the above claims are considered to follow obviously from the normal workings of the Selker device. Further, to use multiple computer systems would have been obvious since such would allow for analysis of more than one patient, such as in a hospital setting.
